INFORMATION

Learning objectives

After participating in the 25th Shaukat Khanum Cancer Symposium, participants will be able to:

1. Apply evidence-based, standardized protocols in the diagnosis and treatment of common and rare cancers to improve patient outcomes.
2. Analyze national data and institutional outcomes for various cancer types in Pakistan to identify trends and gaps in care.
3. Evaluate recent advances in diagnostic modalities and pathological classification to enhance accuracy and prognostic precision.
4. Integrate emerging therapeutic approaches including targeted therapies, immunotherapies, and personalized medicine into clinical decision-making.
5. Assess novel surgical and interventional oncology techniques that reduce perioperative complications and improve long-term outcomes.
6. Foster multidisciplinary collaboration among clinicians, researchers, allied health professionals, and patient advocacy groups to strengthen cancer prevention, treatment, and survivorship care across Pakistan.
